

Respect in Sport Coach/Activity Leader Program

Many sport organizations are struggling with the issue of Abuse Prevention and Risk Management. Several are developing policies and procedures in this regard but few have actual programs that truly make their organization a safer, more ethical place for young people to participate. Respect Group Inc. has developed a grass-roots tool so now; sport and community organizations can actually deliver on their commitment to create a safer, more ethical environment for all participants. With this powerful, on-line training, Respect in Sport provides essential abuse prevention education to each organization’s critical stakeholders.

Respect in Sport offers a highly engaging and easy to use internet-based training course for sport leaders of all levels; (recreational, competitive and elite). The intent of this required training is to:

- empower and educate youth leaders/coaches on the prevention of abuse, bullying and harassment
- build a holistic culture of respect within the sport community
- provide fundamental training tools which enable ALL coaches and youth leaders to become even better role models for the young athletes in their care
